Multiposting module

The d.vinci Multiposting module the allrounder

Standard interfaces to job boards pose challenges for many HR professionals. Especially when it comes to handling different products per job board, working efficiently with a switching agency, transmitting special fields such as cost centers or generating meaningful performance analytics by job group or location.

With the d.vinci Multiposting module, you can handle your entire ad process yourself, directly from your d.vinci applicant management system, and save valuable time when publishing and billing your job ads. Get the most out of your recruiting budget and easily identify the channels that really work for you.

More than 500 job boards ready for immediate use

Over 500 job board interfaces are available to you ready to use. These interfaces are continuously maintained and updated. Transfer information such as subsidiary or cost center for efficient billing.

Use free portals

Via the job board store, you can book free portals such as XING Basic, the Federal Employment Agency (without placement order) and other selected channels for each placement. Increase your online presence and attract the attention of candidates easily and free of charge.

Control campaigns

Assign your jobs directly from d.vinci to your Indeed campaign and export payroll reports by cost center, location or subsidiary, tailored to your requirements.

Federal Employment Agency

Place your job ads INCLUDING placement order for an additional fee directly and digitally from the system at the Federal Employment Agency.

Interface to media agencies

Time-consuming email arrangements with your agency are a thing of the past. Using our special agency interfaces, you can send orders to your agency with a click and track live which channels from the agency package work best for you.

Key figures for your recruiting Reporting

Job board analytics

With the Analytics Add-On your job ads will be equipped with the latest tracking technology and the data measured in this way is processed in a meaningful way. Find out which job boards give you the best results based on various metrics such as „qualified applications“.

Data-based job board recommendation

An algorithm suggests suitable channels for each posting based on benchmarks from other customers. Get inspired and test new portals conveniently via the job board store.

Try out new channels

The recruiting market is becoming increasingly complex and innovative at the same time. Take advantage of this market development and discover over 500 job boards that can be booked online in the Job Board Shop with one click.
